Advanced Placement Program® (AP®) Workshop

EARCOS Teachers' Conference 2008 Preconference Workshop Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

March 25 and 26, 2008

AP® Biology

Presenter: Jack Kay earned his undergraduate degree in biology at Carthage College and his master's degrees in marine biology and botany from the University of Hawaii and University of Oregon, respectively. Since 1962, he has been on the faculty at Iolani School in Honolulu, Hawaii. During the summers, he has served as site director and academic dean of Science and Mathematics for the Johns Hopkins University Center for Talented Youth in Lancaster, Pennsylvania (1987-95) and director for Academic Connections at USCD (2001-03), and Mr. Kay now leads annual AP® Biology oceanographic cruises in Hawaiian waters. He has been active in the College Board's Advanced Placement Program® for most of his educational career, teaching AP Biology since 1974 and serving as AP Biology Exam Table and Question Leader. Mr. Kay has given over 30 AP workshops in and outside of the United States. In 1996, he was elected as the Western Region representative to the College Board Academic Assembly Council. In addition, he has been called upon to contribute to and review a long list of biology textbooks, magazines, Internet sites, and educational materials. His national teaching awards include the National Association of Biology Teachers Outstanding Biology Teacher (1974), a Certificate of Honor from the National Science Foundation, the National Science Teachers Association, the Tandy Technology Scholars Award in Teaching (1992), the Siemens Award for Advanced Placement (2000), as well as numerous awards honoring his leadership and service to his school, Lion's International, and to the State of Hawaii.

AP English Language and Literature (combined)

Presenter: Mary Ellen Ackerman has recently retired from public school teaching at the high school level. She was the English Department chair at Dennis-Yarmouth Regional High School on Cape Cod, Massachusetts for 23 years and a member of the department for 24 years. Prior to that, she taught at the high school level in Colorado and Minnesota and at the college level in Virginia. While in Minnesota, she started an alternative high school. For 16 years she has been a private educational consultant in authentic assessment, media literacy, and teaching in the "Block." She was a teacher trainer in portfolio assessment for the Massachusetts Department of Education and is a consultant for the College Board. She currently serves as a National Leader for the College Board and works with other consultants in cognitive coaching. She also served as a member of various College Board Committees that developed the Leaders' Notes for AP Workshops, the rubrics for the consultant's observations, and the descriptive score report for writing for the PSAT/NMSQT®. For the past two years she has been a member of the Steering Committee for the AP Annual Conference. Ms. Ackerman has facilitated AP English Literature Summer Institutes in Massachusetts, Maine, Vermont, California, and Hawaii.

AP Statistics

Presenter: Roxy Peck has been a professor of statistics at California Polytechnic State University (Cal Poly) since 1979, serving for six years as chair of the Statistics Department. She is currently in her ninth year as associate dean of the College of Science and Mathematics. Nationally known in the area of statistics education, she was made a Fellow of the American Statistical Association (ASA) in 1998, and in 2003 she received the American Statistical Association's Founders Award in recognition of her contributions to K-12 and undergraduate statistics education. In addition to coauthoring the textbooks Introduction to Statistics and Data Analysis and Statistics: The Exploration and Analysis of Data, she is also editor of Statistics: A Guide to the Unknown, a collection of expository papers that showcase applications of statistical methods. She is past chair of the joint American Statistical Association/National Council of Teachers of Mathematics Committee on Curriculum in Statistics and Probability for Grades K-12 and of the ASA Section on Statistics Education and she served from 1999 to 2003 as the Chief Reader for the AP Statistics Exam.
